

The Medical College of Wisconsin is hiring

MD/DO/PhD Faculty

FOR THE DIVISION OF GENERAL INTERNAL MEDICINE

Research

The section is committed to creating and sustaining strong infrastructure to support research. GIM conducts clinical, population health, education, and industry research and is home to a large health services research group with over $10 million in federal research funding. The research vision is to become a leader in creating evidence to change clinical practice, educational efforts, and local, regional, and national policy. Option of appointment at the VA along with the MCW appointment is available.

Clinical Programs

GIM houses the 4 clinical sections of Primary Care, Hospital Medicine, and Perioperative & Consultative Medicine who see patients at the Froedtert Specialty Clinics Building, Froedtert Hospital, and the Zablocki VA Medical Center (VAMC).

Development & Wellness

Professional and leadership development is encouraged with opportunities for teaching, research, and scholarship. Training the next generation of physicians and APPs is a core mission for GIM as well as promoting wellness through events and other initiatives.

DEI & Community Engagement

GIM is committed to recruiting and retaining a diverse workforce, creating a culture of inclusion that is welcoming to everyone who interacts with us, and promoting engagement with our local neighborhoods and communities through education and research.

<https://www.mcw.edu/departments/medicine/divisions/general-internal-medicine/research>