Abstract: The present invention relates to compositions and methods for diagnosing and treating diseases, disorders or conditions associated with dysregulated expression of GPC3. The invention provides novel antibodies that specifically bind to glypican-3 (GPC3). The invention also relates to a fully human chimeric antigen receptor (CAR) wherein the CAR is able to target GPC3.